Briotix Celebrates 20 Years of Transforming Workforce Performance.

Our Growth is due to our success in delivering meaningful results, but we are not resting on our laurels. With our Anniversary comes a renewed commitment to “Make it Better” for our clients, their employees, our Team and our Partners.

2017 is a huge year for Briotix as we celebrate 20 years of proven effective solutions for employers looking to optimize workforce performance, control costs, and improve their business outcomes through ergonomics, comprehensive injury prevention techniques and human performance systems. This celebration comes at a time of rapid growth for our company. Our rapid growth is attributable mostly to the mainstreaming of Briotix' repeatable and sustainable Return on Investment and client satisfaction results.

“We couldn't be successful without our amazing team members and network of providers who come to work each day focused on the health and wellness of our clients. What a great business to be in when we are making it better - finding solutions to our clients' problems big and small.” Says CEO Stephen Brown.

Another significant pillar of our success is our virtual suite of services and custom client solutions created by our Business Transformation Group (BTG), run by Shelby Spencer. “BTG's ability to conceptualize virtual and technically complex solutions to large scale employee performance issues and execute effective solutions leveraging technology and virtual services has been and will continue to be a huge growth area for us. We are fortunate to have such a talented group of technological genius in our wheelhouse of solutions.” Stephen continued.

While virtual and innovative engagement solutions, such as our innovative video series, Ergo Zombies™, continue to be wildly popular, especially among the Millennial workforce, onsite injury prevention and physical therapy services remain the bedrock of our service delivery platforms.

“Our work onsite with employers is invaluable. Our ergonomists, prevention specialists, physical therapists, athletic trainers and occupational therapists become a part of the employer's culture and are able to make significant strides in lowering injuries, helping employees return to work and solving physical issues while they can still be reversed with conservative measures. We have been embedding service professionals onsite with clients for the bulk of our 20 years in business. This service and delivery model will continue to play a very important role over our next 20 years in business." Bob Patterson, Executive Vice President and Co-Founder of Briotix, states.

We could not be more thrilled to celebrate 20 years of making it better for employers and employees globally. Let's make a better workplace together. #makeitbetter
